

Privacy Policy

DSI protects personal information of the users of its websites. DSI's staff and external processors who have access to personal information and are associated with the processing of that information are obligated to respect the privacy and confidentiality of information.

Information Collection

If you visit DSI websites to read or download information, DSI collects and stores only the following information that is automatically recognised: the date and time, the originating IP address, the domain name, the type of browser and operating system used (if provided by the browser), the URL of the referring page (if provided by the browser), the object requested and the completion status of the request.

More information is collected and logged for advanced features, such as placing an order on DSI web servers for online payments, operating with the online platform AllThatStatsNOW, subscribing to a newsletter or using other personalisation features.

Use of Collected Information

Anonymous information is collected from visits to DSI websites to measure user activity on these websites. This includes analysing these logs periodically to measure the traffic through the servers, the number of pages visited and the level of demand for pages and topics of interest, and to help DSI provide better customer service. The logs may be preserved indefinitely and used at any time and in any way to prevent security breaches and to ensure the integrity of the data on the servers. This information is collected through the use of various technologies, including "cookies".

Moreover, the following information might be associated with the cookie: IP address, session number, customer ID (first name, last name) and identification number for online payments, if used. If the user has chosen to "remember login and password", those two items are encrypted and also associated with the cookie. When a registered user returns to the site without logging in, the ID stored in the cookie is used to track the user (unless the user manually deleted the cookie, at which point the server will automatically create another cookie). If you do not want your transaction details used in this manner, you can disable cookies in your browser.

Your Choice

Registration on DSI websites is optional. If you choose not to register or actively provide personal information, you can still use DSI websites. However, certain features that require registration may be unavailable (e.g., online purchases, e-mail alerts, use of personalised DSI server capacities).

DSI websites may enable you to communicate with other users and to post information accessible by others. You should be aware that when you choose to use these services, your information may be available to other users, and DSI has no control over the use of your information by these users.

Links

Throughout the DSI websites, you may find links to other third-party websites. Please note that DSI is not responsible for the privacy policies or content on third-party websites.

DSI websites may also include links to third-party web servers for online payments, which may have different privacy policies. You are therefore encouraged to review their privacy policies, when visiting these websites.

Security

The security of your personal information is important to DSI, but remember that no method of transmission over the internet, or method of electronic storage, is 100% secure. While DSI strives to use commercially acceptable means to protect your personal information, DSI cannot guarantee its absolute security.

Individual Access and Right to Correction

You can ask DSI whether any personal information is held about you, and you can also request to receive a copy of that personal information. As a safeguard against abuse DSI will ask you to provide proof of your identity before providing you with any personal information. If you are not able to do so, DSI reserves the right to refuse to send you the personal information.

You may request at any time that DSI corrects your personal information. You may also request the deletion of such information, except when it has been collected for a specific purpose for which you have given your consent, for the performance of a contract to which you are a party, or in order to comply with a legal obligation. For such requests, please send an e-mail to dsi@dsidata.com.

Changes to this Privacy Policy

DSI reserves the right to update or change its privacy policy at any time and you should check this privacy policy periodically. Your continued use of DSI's websites after DSI posts any modifications to the privacy policy on this page will constitute your acknowledgment of the modifications and your consent to abide and be bound by the modified privacy policy.

If DSI makes any material changes to this privacy policy, DSI will notify you either through the email address you have provided to DSI, or by placing a prominent notice on DSI's websites.

Privacy Support

If you have any inquiries about our privacy policy statement, please contact:

DSI Data Service & Information GmbH
Management
Xantener Str. 51A
Rheinberg, 47495
Germany
dsi@dsidata.com